CHILLERS FOR INDUSTRY

13 April 2006

New Industrial Insulation Foam

Australian water chiller manufacturer Matsu Chilling Systems and Summit Refrigeration Products has released its own brand of foil faced industrial insulation foam to complement its 2006 range of industrial water chillers and glycol chillers.

Insulation of process water tanks is important in plastics manufacturing because it provides temperature stability. Temperature stability in process cooling water is directly linked to temperature stability of tooling dies. The greater the variation in temperature of tooling dies, the greater product variability, and the greater the rejection rate. By keeping temperatures constant quality of finished product invariably increases.

Matsu branded industrial insulation foam is now available from Matsu Chilling Systems and can be shipped Australia wide at short delivery notice.

For years Matsu Chilling Systems has used foil faced industrial insulation foam in their chiller range due to its excellent thermal properties and ease of use. This industrial insulation foam is the industry standard for chillers, refrigeration and air conditioning, and now because of customer demand it is available as an off the shelf product.

Features of the industrial insulation foam include suitability for all weather use, easy application with peel off backing, industrial grade durability and heavy wear resistance. The use of industrial insulation foam can provide benefits such as greater reliability of process water supply temperature, reduced heat loss, better energy efficiency, and better chiller performance.

This complements the Australia wide chiller service plan and chiller products plan now available from Matsu Chilling Systems.
